Why Provide Scholarships?

UCR students confront greater challenges than ever. It is very tough to count on financial aid alone without taking on debt or finding work. Affiliates Scholarships offer promising students help in attaining their academic goals.

Meet the 2017-18 Affiliates of UCR Scholarship Recipients:

Faithfulness Adebayo-Ige: Senior, Theater Major. A Big West Scholar-Athlete and a member of the Nigerian Student Union. Summer intern for the Oprah Winfrey Network. “My career aspiration is to be a professional working actor and screenwriter.”

Eduardo Blanco: Senior, Business Admin. Major. Works part-time at Fiesta Village. Involved in soccer league and Alpha Gamma Sigma fraternity. His goal is to work in the audio/video market. His mother “has used her life savings to finance my tuition.”

Crystal Mariano: Junior, Bioengineering Major. Undergraduate research assistant for the “Window to the Brain” project. Colton community center volunteer. Her objective is to develop technology for “a transparent cranial implant” to replace multiple craniotomies.

Melody Zhan: Senior, Business Admin. Major. President of the American Marketing Association at UCR. “As a second generation Asian-American who possesses a fervent interest in the arts... I am extremely passionate about... Asian-American influence in mainstream media.”
